

in multiple modules

Coupling (bad)

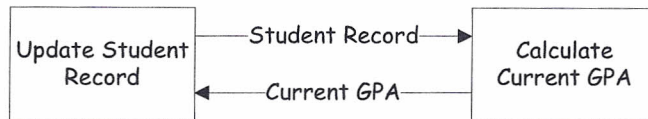

- The level of dependency that exists between modules.

Low
(Good)

Data - Fields of data are passed and all data are used.

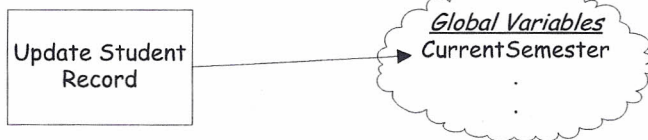

Stamp - Record structures passed, not all data are used.

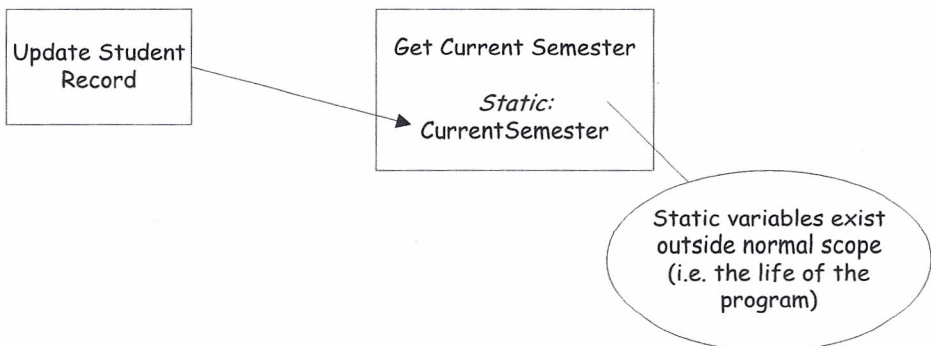

Control - Control information is passed.

Common - Modules refer to global data.

Content - Module refers to the inside of another module.

High
(Bad)

Cohesion

- The degree to which a module's instructions are functionally related.

